Discover the great wines from Australia and New Zealand

The wines from Down Under have established an international reputation for producing some of the best value wines in the world. Both countries are known for their cool-climates, and some of the most progressive and environmentally conscious producers. The two countries have also developed a distinct winemaking style and flavor profile all their own. We have selected a range of wines that reflect the regions to help expand and elevate the category.

Welcome Tapi Organic to the portfolio.

'A homage to the classic and earthy expression of New Zealand wine.'

DAS JUICE

A winemaking project from James Audas and Tom Sheer.

Made with maximum good-drinking in mind, all of our wines are sourced from some of the best organic and biodynamic vineyards around South. Our wines are made with no adjustments, with no fining nor filtration and with a small amount of Sulphur at bottling being the only addition. We choose not to disturb the wines during their ageing, preferring to respect the grapes that the season gave to us each year. Nothing added, nothing taken away.

MARGARET RIVER

Credaro Wines is the oldest family-run winery in Margaret River. The first Fragola cuttings planted in by our great Grandfather in 1922 seeded four generations (so far) of farming and winemaking in the region, and today our vineyards lie across seven sites from Yallingup, to Carbanup, to the original vines in Woolston. Our wines pay homage to the hard work and tradition of the generations that came before us and continue to push boundaries in our quest for quality.

Survivor vines, Barossa wines, and a new beginning. Welcome to Welland Welland is an enduring 'survivor' vineyard in a truly unique location that is enjoying a new lease on life. In South Australia's Barossa Valley, in the township of Nuriootpa is where you'll find the Welland vineyard. Planted in 1923 by one of the Barossa's founding families, Welland is the last remaining section of much larger plantings of vines and fruit orchards that once occupied the northern end of the township.

BLEASDALE
 EST 1850

Langhorne Creek experiences relatively low annual rainfall, so supplementary drip irrigation is used to provide the vines with every opportunity to produce optimal fruit. The soils for Bleasdale’s vineyards range from well drained, alluvial soils to brown loams over limestone.

Over the years, further varieties have been planted including Malbec, Cabernet Sauvignon, Petit Verdot, Cabernet Franc and Chardonnay. As Bleasdale grew it established contract grape growing arrangements with an increasing number of growers. Some of these relationships are entering their third generation of arrangements. These days, we are often trialing new varieties and varietal clones to ensure that we are the forefront of innovation and quality. In 2011, Bleasdale began sourcing Chardonnay, Pinot Gris and Sauvignon Blanc from the cooler Adelaide Hills region and has quickly built a reputation for quality and value white wines. Bleasdale’s Langhorne Creek red wines have fine tannin and fruit structure and are highly regarded for their complexity and longevity; whilst the white wines of the Adelaide Hills display elegant fruit, balance and length of flavor.

RedHeads

We might be RedHeads by name, but did you know we're GreenHeads by nature?

As we rebuilt and renovated our winery, sustainability was at the heart of every decision. We asked the Environmental Protection Agency to get involved in our vision for a sustainable winery. Could other wineries follow in our footsteps and create the sustainable winemaking industry Australia deserves?

What began as a no-nonsense commitment to creating a more sustainable future for our winery has now become GreenHeads Movement.

Since 2007 our unique collaboration has granted us access to some of the best vineyards from The Great Southern and Margaret River regions in Western Australia and enabled us to produce delicious wines.

Our winemaking philosophy is simple and relatively non-intrusive – to produce fine and distinctive wines, that reflect the individual characteristics of the vineyard and variety. Many organic principles are incorporated into our vineyard systems.

All nutrition requirements are based upon stringent soil analysis, and a spring application of mineral-based fertilizer that is microbial seeded and spread as required. During the warm summer months liquid kelp is used as a conditioner to maintain leaf health so important during the final ripening phase.

THE PARTY

Gabrielle Pétillant Naturel is made, as the name implies, by a natural process.

Before the wine's first, and only, fermentation process is fully complete, it is bottled. Made in the ancient method of bottling before the primary ferment is complete, without the addition of secondary yeast or sugar, results in carbon dioxide being formed from the natural sugars already in the wine and turning into bubbles. For reasons of flavor, texture, pallet weight and importantly ripening timing, our Pétillant Naturel comes from a fusion of three varietals.

The name Paritua is a tribute to the Paritua Stream, which meanders gently through the vineyard. Paritua means the meandering stream above the ancient river. The vineyard is planted over the historical riverbed of the nearby Ngaruroro River which flowed through pre the 1860s earthquake. It is a name that also acknowledges the connection with the land and the people of New Zealand

As a youth, David Clouston spent his summer holidays exploring the valleys and rivers of Marlborough with his friends. During his teenage years, David earned extra pocket money by helping on neighboring farms throughout the back drops of the Awatere valley and working for growers during vintage in the heart of the Wairau valley. With some hard graft, and a cheeky glint in his eye, David soon gained the respect of local elders. Taking flight, David embarked on his journey and after 22 vintages abroad in locations such as Chile and Corsica, he returned home to Marlborough to set up his own venture. David saw a chance to start a wine brand which could deliver great 'drinkability' and offer growers long term contracts (that are both fair and offer a sustainable future for all). David works closely with his select growers and is involved with the day-to-day viticultural decisions, as well as orchestrating the development of new vineyards in the most extreme microclimates of the Awatere and Wairau valleys.

UNKEL

The name Unkel, a deliberately misspelled German word, symbolizes Rob & Kate’s winemaking philosophy because an “uncle has a lighter influence on a kid’s education than a father would have, as our winemaking has on our wine”, they say.

“I was drawn into the winemaking world by my obsession with how things smell – I was even considering perfumes, but in the end, winemaking won,” Rob Burley laughs about his start in the wine industry.

Accompanied by his high-school sweetheart turned wife Kate, the energetic New Zealander started an exciting odyssey that eventually led them back to the land they love. Their first globetrotting steps led from their native Tauranga to Australia, where Rob finished his winemaking degree and started working for big wineries, which “nearly drained the passion out of me. Luckily, a friend introduced me to wines of people like Saša Radikon or Jean-Francois Ganevat back then,” Rob recalls.

Luta

‘Luta’, derived from Lutum, Latin for clay - pays reference to the Moutere clays of which the grapes are grown. Luta wines are a recent addition to our Unkel Wines range and are wines made from a selection of barrels that we believe tell the story of the unique Moutere clays and the organic vineyards in which these vines are farmed. These are aged for longer at every step, from barrel to tank and again in the bottle, prior to release.
